

DATA PASSING METHOD AND APPARATUS FOR WIRELESS COMMUNICATIONAbstract of the Invention

The invention is a method and apparatus in which data can be transferred between a mobile node and a fixed based node in a wireless local area network through a data passing scheme in which data can be bounced between a base node and an out-of-range mobile node through other mobile nodes.

10075512, 021502